WE ARE NASSCO

A committed member of the San Diego community

Mural depicting the history of Barrio Logan and its waterfront industries, which is located on Harbor Drive near Cesar E. Chavez Parkway, and was completed by renowned Chicano Muralist Salvador Torres.

WE ARE SHIPBUILDERS

NASSCO has called San Diego home for more than 60 years and is the largest and most capable shipbuilding and repair facility on the West Coast.

General Dynamics NASSCO traces its beginnings to the industrial heart of San Diego, along the working waterfront, on the beautiful and historic San Diego Bay. In 1905, a small foundry and machine shop named California Iron Works opened at Seventh Avenue and Market Street in San Diego.

Fast forward to 1944 and a name change to National Iron Works, the company moved to a new location at 28th Street and Harbor Drive – the present site of General Dynamics NASSCO.

& repairing ships
that secure our nation and help fuel
our economy.*

NASSCO is now the largest and only full service shipyard on the West Coast of the United States, specializing in the design and construction of ships for the U.S. Navy and commercial customers. NASSCO is also a major provider of repair services for the U.S. Navy, with capabilities in San Diego, CA; Norfolk, VA; Jacksonville, FL; and Bremerton, WA.

Over the years, the company has revolutionized the way ships are designed and constructed, lowering the cost and time needed to produce a new vessel for the U.S. Navy or commercial partner. The company's unique location along San Diego's working waterfront provides shipbuilders with unparalleled access to the nation's leading maritime support businesses, and highly-trained employees allow NASSCO to build and repair some of the world's greatest ships in the most efficient manner possible.

NASSCO believes that its foundation is built upon its highly-skilled employees and an environment in which communication is open and people work together to bring about continuous improvement and to achieve a high level of customer satisfaction.

The company's success is due in part to its strategic location along the San Diego Bay and its investment in its employees who build and repair ships that secure our nation and fuel our economy.

WE ARE COMMUNITY STEWARDS

As committed members of the San Diego community, NASSCO supports dozens of community events and organizations each year.

General Dynamics NASSCO has been a part of the Barrio Logan community since 1944, when it first moved to its 28th Street and Harbor Drive location as National Iron Works. Over time, National Iron Works would eventually evolve into General Dynamics NASSCO.

Today, NASSCO shipbuilders are still invested in the Barrio Logan community. It's where many of NASSCO's employees and their families live and play.

"We are strongly committed to our community."

Throughout the years, NASSCO shipbuilders have remained committed to the neighborhoods that surround the shipyards. From bay clean-ups to toy drives to supporting local organizations and causes, the company takes pride in community involvement.

NASSCO takes pride in its community and supports dozens of events and organizations each year. Some of which include:

- Groundwork San Diego's Radio Canyon Clean-Up

WE ARE ENVIRONMENTALISTS

At NASSCO, we are strongly committed to the environment and take our responsibility seriously. It is our mission to protect and preserve the San Diego Bay, reduce emissions and waste, and continuously strive to reduce our overall impact on the environment.

At NASSCO, everyone is an environmentalist, which is why the company strives to reduce its carbon footprint.

WATER

We take care of San Diego’s waterways not only because we are required to, but because it is the right thing to do. In fact, we take our obligation as a caretaker of the San Diego Bay and other surrounding waterways seriously—and have dedicated a significant amount of resources toward this effort.

Some of our initiatives to #LoveMotherEarth include: treating industrial waste water, collection of storm water runoff, spill rapid response team, and a state-of-the-art ion exchange system to treat various process discharges

ENERGY

The NASSCO shipyard is equipped with low-energy, LED lights at its location along the working waterfront, which have reduced energy needs by nearly 70 percent. This lighting system saves nearly 3,000,000 kilowatt-hours per year – roughly the same amount of energy needed to power 273 homes.

NASSCO employees participate in annual community clean-ups to preserve and protect the environment and the community it calls home.

RECYCLING

NASSCO’s in-house recycling center is responsible for recycling more than 90 percent of all shipyard material and for compacting all materials in an effort to reduce truck traffic through local neighborhoods, including Barrio Logan. In fact, we have reduced truck traffic through Barrio Logan by up to 80 percent.

These efforts not only help extend the life of San Diego’s landfills, but reduces NASSCO’s carbon footprint on the community.

NASSCO’s recycling efforts have reduced local truck traffic by nearly 80 percent

AIR

NASSCO has adopted numerous safeguards in our production processes, including a 66,000-square-foot blast and paint facility that captures and destroys more than 98 percent of all volatile organic compounds emitted during painting. Additionally, NASSCO supports the use of bus and vanpools and the trolley for our employees to reduce the amount of traffic and air pollution in our community. More than 300 employees utilize the bus and vanpool service and more than 700 use the trolley, effectively removing more than 1,000 passenger vehicles from the road.
